PRESS RELEASE

Council on Aging Board Opening

The Town of Lexington currently has openings on the Council on Aging Board (COA). Applications for the current two vacancies will be accepted until June 13, 2014.

This volunteer Board, appointed by the Town Manager, "provides policy guidance in the operation of the Senior Center, which carries out the programs designed to meet the needs of the aging. These programs are developed in collaboration with programs of the Massachusetts Department of Elder Affairs and others."

The eleven member COA Board is made up of Lexington residents with an interest in senior affairs. The 2015 opening of the new Community Center will provide an exciting opportunity for that COA Board to develop new programs for residents of all ages and cultures.
